DRUG ADDICTION AND ALCOHOLISM

Drug Addiction is a powerful and destructive force that rips families apart and ruins the lives of good people every day.

In one way or another, everyone has felt the impact of substance abuse in their lives. Whether from personal recognition of one's own chemical entrapment or, more commonly, the secondary impact of alcohol and other drug use in our families and communities; substance abuse is continually destroying individuals, families and impacting successful management and economic production.

TREATMENT

Crave Life - Drug Free networks with biophysical programs that don't view addiction as a chronic and progressive disease that must be treated throughout one's life, but as a condition that can be treated and overcome, producing strong and capable individuals that live responsible and productive lives.

Biophysical programs recognize the fact that drug addiction usually has two main components. There is the physical dependency and the cravings for the drugs as well as the mental/emotional need for them. These programs address and handle both aspects of the addiction.

The recovery rate for a biophysical program is exceedingly higher than most other drug addiction treatment programs.
